

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method, software program, and system for managing access to information and the transfer thereof. More particularly, the present invention relates to 5 a method, software program, and system for managing, via the Internet, access to information and the transfer thereof.